Course Description

MUSC 151-01A: Music Thru Theory (FA)

Music Through Theory is a general overview of the construction and organization of the music to which we listen. In the first half of the course, students learn about scales, chords, rhythm, meter, and how all the elements work together to create melody and harmony in different styles of music. In the second half, larger forms are studied and students examine how entire compositions are organized.

Classical, rock and jazz will all be examined for their unique musical identities. No previous musical knowledge is required, only the interest in learning.
