Study Abroad in China

The Chinese program is located in Beibei, a city in southwest China, Chongqing municipality. The focus of the program is on Chinese language, history, culture, literature, philosophy and art. All courses are taught in English at Southwest University, a liberal arts university of 12,000 students.

Students live on campus in the foreign student dormitory. The faculty consists of a CSB/SJU professor who accompanies the group and distinguished professors from the host university. In order to expose students to China's diversity, the program provides approximately two weeks of travel to major Chinese cities and sites usually including Guilin, Beijing and Xian. Also the program includes numerous excursions in Sichuan Province such as the Northern Hot Springs, the Yangtze River and beyond.

Housing Arrangements

Housing is arranged for program participants by the Office for Education Abroad. In accordance with institutional policies, co-ed housing is not an option on any CSB/SJU sponsored program. Students will be housed in the foreign student residence on the campus. The rooms are furnished and heat/air conditioning is provided. Students may enjoy the famous Sichuan cuisine at the foreign student restaurant.

All classes are held on the Southwest University campus. Students have access to the university computer lab, library and gymnasium facilities.

Selection Criteria

- Minimum GPA of 2.5, unless there are special circumstances.
- Letters of recommendation from the academic advisor, a non-faculty member, and a faculty member.
- Interview with the program director.
- Preference is given to qualified seniors, qualified juniors and qualified sophomores in that order.
- Qualified CSB/SJU students receive preference over students from other colleges and universities.
- CSB/SJU students who have never been on a CSB/SJU semester-long study abroad program receive preference over students who have already participated on a CSB/SJU semester-long study abroad program, with the exception of a student assistant.
- In accordance with institutional policies, co-ed housing is not an option on any CSB/SJU program. In some instances, selection of men and women participants must be based on housing accommodations available on site.
- A student cannot be accepted to a program if he/she has not completed the application process.
- No applications will be accepted after the close of spring semester.
- A disciplinary violation could affect acceptance to a study abroad program.

Things You Should Know:

- Applicants are not required to have any previous Chinese experience; however, they are required to enroll in a Chinese language course during the semester in China.
- Students can study in China during the fall semester. (Late-August to mid-December)
- The deadline for applications for all study abroad programs is January 15, 2010.

Policies

Students are required to attend all class meetings of courses for which they are registered. It is the student's responsibility to contact an instructor—preferably in advance—of a necessary absence. A student absent from class for any reason assumes the responsibility for work which has been missed. Personal travel is not considered a reasonable absence from class.

The instructor determines the attendance policy for his or her class. An instructor may fail a student if the instructor determines that unwarranted absences have earned the student a grade of "F", based on grading standards and attendance requirements defined in the course syllabus.

Disregard for either the academic character of the program or the basic social and legal obligations of a guest residing in another country will result in the termination of the student's program abroad.

How do I get to China?

Students will make their own flight arrangements and must meet in China at a place and time to be designated by the program director.

Important Information

Program Fees

The program fee for 2009-2010 was $19,073 plus round-trip airfare. The program fee will increase by the same percentage as tuition, room and board on campus for the 2010-2011 academic year. The fee is subject to change due to unanticipated increases in expenses and exchange rate fluctuations. Please note the items included/not included in the program fee.

Included in the Program Fee:

1. CSB/SJU tuition for the semester
2. Orientation program expenses
3. Housing while the program is in session
4. On-site tuition and instructional costs
5. Course-related excursions
6. Visa fee

Not Included in the Program Fee:

1. Non-program travel or housing
2. Passport application fee ($97)
3. Round-trip airfare
4. Medical/travel exams/consultations
5. Food/Meal expenses

Financial Aid

Regularly enrolled CSB/SJU students are eligible for financial aid on this study abroad program just as if they were on-campus, with the exception of work-study and the housing grant. For further information, students are directed to the Academic Catalog, available online. You are also encouraged to discuss your eligibility with your financial aid office. For information on study abroad scholarships, please visit the Office for Education Abroad Website:

www.csbsju.edu/internationaleducation/scholarships.htm

Athletic Eligibility

Grades from study abroad programs must be received by the CSB/SJU Registrar's Office to determine athletic eligibility. If, for any reason, the necessary grades have not been received at the start of the athletic season, the student will not be allowed to participate (including practice) until it is determined that the student has met all eligibility requirements.

Travel Medical Consultation

Health exams to satisfy visa requirements, travel consultations, and immunizations are the financial and personal responsibility of the traveling student. Students should make an appointment for a pre-travel consultation with the SJU Health Center, CSB Health Services, or another medical professional. Be sure to allow sufficient time as some vaccinations are given in a series with certain intervals between vaccinations. OEA staff are not qualified to make a recommendation about travel medical care. If a medical exam or medical information is required to fulfill visa application requirements, the specific information will be given to the students at pre-departure orientation. For more details about medical health concerns while traveling, consult the Center for Disease Control and Prevention website at www.cdc.gov.

Orientation Program

All CSB/SJU students must participate in orientation sessions during the semester prior to going abroad. These sessions are arranged by the program director and the Office for Education Abroad. Attendance at all orientation sessions is mandatory for all CSB/SJU students.

Fall 2010: March 20, 2010

Academic Program

In keeping with the goals of a liberal education, CSB/SJU study abroad programs offer off-campus intellectual environments in which students are able to explore the human condition. Students are exposed to unique opportunities to examine the fundamental, recurring questions about themselves and the world. At the same time, great care has been taken to ensure that the courses taught abroad are integrated fully into the Common Curriculum and/or departmental offerings.

Grades issued on all CSB/SJU sponsored programs are recorded on the student's transcript as letter grades or S/U (unless the class is offered for a letter grade only). All grades are calculated into the student's cumulative GPA.
