The first Earth Day was forty years ago in 1970. I saw rallies in Philadelphia denouncing corporations and government for encouraging policies that created pollution, and I experienced the teach-ins that were mostly about the plight of the environment. It was an energizing day. But how could we imagine 40 years would pass before we would fully understand the scope of our environmental negligence?

My first direct participation in Earth Day was in 1971. We were into beautifying our immediate environment. We gathered litter on our high school campus and renovated and replanted a school flower garden. I remember that day. It was good to be a part of a movement and to see the fruits of our labors. Then, for the most part, we forgot about the environment until the next year. Thinking back, I am amused that most of our efforts were clearly not good for the environment. The trash did not get recycled. It likely ended up in a landfill, still intact today. The artificial pond we painted bright blue was probably toxic for fish. We installed an energy-hogging pump. I’m certain that our plantings weren’t native.

Nevertheless, I’m proud of that inauspicious beginning of my consciousness. Earth Day signaled a 40-year awakening for our country, our world, and for me. It has taken decades for us to understand that we won’t need to clean up what we don’t destroy in the first place.

This is the essence of sustainability, and a sacred trust for college faculty and administrators. I was among the first small group to sign the American College and University Presidents’ Climate Commitment three years ago. Now, nearly 700 colleague presidents have risen to the challenge. Our feet will be held to the fire (hopefully not one burning fossil fuels) as we attempt to sustain colleges that someday consume no more energy than they produce.

Of course, this is nothing new in the Benedictine world. Sustainability is a theme in monasteries that have thrived since St. Benedict founded the order and wrote the Rule more than 1,500 years ago. In fact, a key value Benedictines live by is to listen, focus on the long run, and adjust behaviors so we can do better over time.

At Saint Ben’s, the definition of sustainability surpasses its environmental roots. In addition to the environmental focus, this Annual Report takes into consideration the sustainability of College of Saint Benedict as a whole -- the sustainability of our nationally recognized academic experience, and our financial strength and stability. Sustaining refers to maintaining systems—natural systems and social systems—indefinitely and healthily. This is a complicated task and the solutions are not obvious. Our goal is to reveal connections, challenge our behaviors, and invite the community in to share the learning.

For example, financial sustainability is a perpetual concern regardless of the economic climate -- prosperity or the downturn of the past few years. We focus on balancing our current needs and planning for our future as an institution. The CSB strategic plan considers the college as a whole -- our immediate financial situation, building reserves for the future, and ensuring that we weather whatever comes our way, all the while attending to our key goals to educate and nurture women leaders. As a donor, you are key to the financial sustainability of Saint Ben’s. Your continual support helps ensure we are fulfilling our mission in the lives of our students. For that, we thank you.

Sustainability also includes a continual reevaluation of our infrastructure, ensuring that we have resilient, visionary, and high-achieving teams in place to help reach and continually expand our aspirations. Most recently, our vice president of institutional advancement, Stuart Lang, announced his retirement in July 2010 after serving 5 years in that position at Saint Ben’s. We are grateful for the accomplishments of IA under Stuart’s tenure and wish him well on the next phase of his personal journey. In January, Saint Ben’s alumna Kimberly Ferlaak Motes ’89 assumed the helm of Institutional Advancement for the next phase of our journey. In addition to her love of CSB, Kim brings leadership and fund-raising experience from her work with the arts in Washington D.C. and the Twin Cities.
We will sustain the caliber of students attending Saint Ben’s. To that end, scholarships must continue to provide access to a talented, high-performing, diverse student body, not only from Minnesota, but also other states and countries. We build our endowment to ensure we continue and expand award-winning academic programs like our Intercultural Leadership, Education and Development fellowships, MapCores (which supports women pursuing majors in mathematics, physics and computer science), and Jackson Fellowships in civic engagement.

As a Benedictine institution, we are called to listen to what we say to each other, but we also listen to what science and the environment tell us and act accordingly. We listen to each other and then refine our curriculum; departments listen to their members and then reform to improve themselves; students, staff, and faculty listen to and learn from one another other in order to better themselves and the community. Our emphasis on sustainability is not new and it is not in response to any trend or fad. It is a clear reflection of our institutional mission and values.

As we seek to educate citizens of the world for the 21st century we must ensure they learn to think and act sustainably, in their own lives, but most importantly as leaders in their future careers and communities. New careers and perhaps entirely new ways of thinking will emerge from this global engagement with sustainability in the coming decades. It is incumbent on us to offer our students the best preparation possible for that future, not only in the classroom but in residential settings, co-curricular programs, and indeed every aspect of the operations of our institutions.

As institutions of higher learning, we have a fundamental responsibility to prepare our students with the values, knowledge, and skills they’ll need to make themselves and the world flourish. We also must expand and sustain our commitment to women’s education, our global community, and our inspiring alumnae. As Saint Ben’s looks to celebrate its 100th birthday in 2013, we also look to the future and what it means to allow the college not only to survive but thrive for the next 100 years. We couldn’t succeed without you.

KEEP THEM GUESSING
Structured play is key to the MaPCoReS problem-solving seminar. MaPCoReS -- which stands for Math, Physics, and Computer Science Research Scholars -- is a new program established by Saint Ben’s in FY 2010. This highly-competitive scholarship program aims to increase the number of women participating in non-traditional majors.

In its first year, more than 90 applicants were considered. Ten were selected for their academic merit, expressed interest in a major, and demonstrated critical and analytical thinking.

In addition to an all-female First Year Symposium, the cohort participates in a weekly problem-solving seminar where teams are asked to program robots, build transistor radios or mother boards, and determine the probability and damage of a major catastrophic event, like an asteroid hitting Earth.

The tasks in the seminar encourage the scholars to think and participate in a discipline outside of the one to which they are accustomed. To achieve their tasks, the scholars must make educated guesses, test their theories, analyze, and reassess what they are doing. The fun factor of the seminar removes the fear of failure during the experiments.

CiRCLe OF FRienDS

For nearly a century, College of Saint Benedict has thrived because of the thoughtful philanthropy of people who identify with the mission of the college and value its influence. Members of the President’s Circle provide a significant level of giving—$1,000 or more annually. Their support is among the most valuable gifts to the college because it has an immediate impact in the lives of students on campus today. Each year President’s Circle members celebrate with students at a special dinner.

SO LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE

In the Olympics, it's the passing of the torch. At Saint Ben's, it's the President's Dinner. The tradition continued this year as over 500 first-year students marched their way into the Haehn Campus Center to enjoy one of their first evenings as Bennies. Nearly forty alumnae volunteered their time to welcome their successors into the Saint Ben's community, giving them the traditional Bennie Pin. The candle-lighting ceremony symbolized the passing of the torch and the beginning of a brightly lit future at the College of Saint Benedict and beyond.

GALA DINNER

The June Gala Dinner was a chance for several hundred Saint Ben’s alumnae to reconnect and honor a few of their classmates. Four awards were given out to five alumnae. Mary White Frey ’80 received the Benedicite Service award. Karin Remington ’85 and Jacquelyn Mychlewhite ’00 both were recipients of the Distinguished Alumna Award. Gretchen Adelmann Korf, ’00 received the Decade Award, and Laura Kelly Lovdahl ’85 received the first Sister Emmanuel Renner Award. The Gala Dinner provides an opportunity to reconnect our alumnae with the college that touched them as well as was touched by them. It is a time to reminisce about college memories, reunite with old friends, and relive the days spent on this revered ground.

The final celebration of SaintStock -- Saint Ben’s party on the plaza -- went out with a bang...of thunder, that is. A storm forced concert-goers into the Clemens Fieldhouse, dampening the campus, but not their spirits. Alums enjoyed music by four incredible bands: The cover band, Slip Twister, and four alumni bands: The Brown Family, Yasen Marie, and Straight 90s. Rain or shine, we still rock on.

Without question, Saint Ben’s wouldn’t be the success story that it is without the people who’ve helped mold and shape its history. Whether sisters, alumnae, or faculty and staff, all have played an important role. Keeping these individuals connected to the college is at the heart of the Retirees Association. The association has monthly social gatherings, informational presentations, and some added perks (like access to the fitness facilities and libraries).

If your phone is ringing, it might be Saint Ben’s. More specifically, it might be one of the Bennies who proudly serve on the Phonathon Team for Annual Giving. Their reasons for calling are simple: to update your contact information, to share stories about campus, and to hear what’s new in your personal and professional life. Of course, they’ll encourage you to continue your support of Saint Ben’s and thank you for the many gifts you’ve provided to students already. All in all, it’s a pretty cool call.

Kayti Helm ’14- First Year Caller raising over $20,000, runs track at CSB

Kirsti Klaverkamp ’13- Sophomore Supervisor, raising over $11,000, runs track at CSB

Megan Schutz ’12 -3rd Year Caller, raising over $53,000, is studying abroad in Australia spring 2011.

COURAGEOUS, STRONG, AND BOLD

The 2010 College of Saint Benedict graduation class included 494 women filled with compassion, conviction, and values. Regardless of their field of study, they embody the courage to inspire change, the strength to weather challenges, and bold visions of a better world.

The summer of 2010 was especially profound and influential for CSB/SJU students. Charlie Davison, Patrick Lowder, Corbin Cleary, Ryan Gott, Jessica Najarian, Megan Kack, Jamie Utzinger, Liz Carroll-Anderson, and Sarah Mahowald. They conducted personal research on topics such as the Tibetan Nun Monastery, Alzheimer’s Care, and Nepalese Art. The crew also took part in awe-inspiring experiences, like visiting the Taj Mahal, climbing to over 13,000 feet up in the Nepalese mountains, paragliding, and being submerged in an unfamiliar culture.

Megan Kack summed the trip up beautifully, “The best journey’s are the ones that answer the questions that you did not think to ask in the beginning…travelling to a foreign culture and region illustrates how the heart can be filled anywhere on earth.”

The 2009-2010 Blazer athletic season boasted many strong finishes for our student-athletes. Blazer volleyball secured the 2009 Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title. Blazer basketball clinched its fifth straight MIAC title. Blazer golfers placed 2nd at the MIAC championships. Nordic skiing was the top college team in Minnesota and Wisconsin at regionals. The remaining Division III competitors continue to be a force academically and athletically.

Water. Many of us take it for granted. The ability to simply fill a glass from the faucet or shower each day is commonplace. For families living in a remote village of the Dominican Republic, fresh, clean water is now something they can think less about, thanks to the work of Kensei Kremer ’08. Kensei received a Rotary Scholarship following graduation and has been working tirelessly to establish clean water systems for these families since then. She is the perfect example of how your investment in Saint Ben’s helps create a better future for all of us . . . by empowering our women with leadership for change and wisdom for a lifetime.

Two more Bennies have us anxiously awaiting their success stories. Andrea Carrow ’09 received a 2010-11 Rotary Foundation Ambassadorial Scholarship and Anna Schumacher ’10 is to receive a 2011-12 scholarship. Stay tuned to learn how they are putting their leadership skills to work for the common good.

Three writers examined ways poetry might bear witness to injustice and suffering, particularly when encountered during wars, in a panel discussion at the Minnesota Public Radio UBS Forum in February. The discussion was sponsored by the Literary Arts Institute at the College of Saint Benedict and the Eugene McCarthy Center for Public Policy and Civic Engagement at CSB and SJU, in collaboration with Graywolf Press.
